THE ATLANTIC CABLE WORKING ADMIRABLY.

Connecting With All the Lines Through-out the United States.

GREAT REJOICING.

Queen Victoria's Message and President Buchanan's Response.

All Doubts of the Entire Success of the Cable Entirely Dispelled.

We are glad to be able to reproduce the following bit of interesting news. It is taken from an Extra of the Russellville Herald, dated August 18, 1858:

The following interesting news was received at this office after our weekly issue of to-day was printed. The news being of such great and glorious import we cannot think of permitting a week to elapse before sending it to the readers of the Herald. We therefore hasten to send it forth in an Extra Herald. Therejoicing of the reception of intelligence of the complete success of the Atlantic Telegraph Cable, has been general and enthusiastic throughout the Union. Do not people of Russellville and Logan county feel like giving vent to their joyous feelings too? If so, let them go about it at once. Let us have a grand illumination and appropriate speeches.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16, 1858.

Information has been received that the Atlantic Cable is all right at both ends, and throughout, and that the Queen's message has been received and is now in process of transmission through the length and breadth of our land.

It is understood that the following message was deposited by Queen Victoria with Mr. Dallas, our Minister to the Court of St. James, some days since, to be forwarded to the President whenever and as soon as the cable was reported in working order, and this afternoon was transmitted by way of Valentia Bay:

THE QUEEN'S MESSAGE.

TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES:

Her Majesty desires to congratulate the President upon the successful completion of this great international work, in which the Queen has taken the deepest interest.

THE PRESIDENT'S REPLY.

The President cordially reciprocates the congratulations of her Majesty, the Queen, on the success of the great international enterprise accomplished by the science, skill and indomitable energy of the two countries. It is a triumph more glorious, because more useful, than was ever won by the conqueror on the field of battle.

May the Atlantic Telegraph Company, under the blessings of Heaven, prove to be a bond of perpetual peace and friendship between the kindred nations; and an instrument destined by divine Providence to diffuse religion, civilization, liberty and law throughout the world.

In this view, will not all our nations of Christendom spontaneously unite in the declaration it shall be forever neutral, and that its communications shall be held sacred in the places of their destination, in the midst of hostilities?

Dated at Washington City, August 16, 1858.

CYRUS STATION, Aug. 16.

To the Directors of the Atlantic Telegraph Company:

Europe and America are united by Telegraph! Glory be to God in the Highest; on earth, peace and good will toward men.

Signed by the Directors of the Atlantic Telegraph Company of Great Britain.

X
TO VOTE THE REPUBLICAN TICKET PUT THE X UNDER THE LOG CABIN.

THE REPUBLICAN STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE recently adopted the Log Cabin as the emblem to be placed upon the Republican ballots instead of the Eagle against the use of which the Democrats were about instituting an injunction. The Log Cabin is the emblem adopted by the old Whigs in the campaign of 1840 and the suggestion was found here. To vote the Republican ticket stamp the X in the space below the Log Cabin.

From bad to worse and from worse to worst is the progress the Kentucky Democracy is now making.

The REPUBLICAN gives its readers this week a Supplement containing a complete report of the joint debate between Gen. Hardin and Col. Bradbury at Louisville on the 19th.

The Louisville Post gives a list of Kentucky Democratic papers which are for Sound Money and against Joe Blackburn. Our contemporary is not mentioned in the list. Wonder where it stands?

The Louisville Post has denounced Hardin and refuses to support him for Governor. The great German daily of Louisville has done the same and the Courier-Journal is so weak in its support as to be charged with secret opposition. The way of a Free Silver man on a straddle platform is indeed hard.

On account of Catholic Pleurisy at Grayson Springs Ky., station Aug. 17th tickets will be on sale that date at one fare for the round trip good to 18th to return.

There is a growing sentiment in the country in favor of a well devised stock law.

So long as Kentucky is able to furnish the world with 48 murders in 49 days her reputation for lawlessness is in no great danger of being impaired.

HARTFORD needs an ordinance against the town cow and the town hog, which members of society are and have been making like almost unbearable. The hog and the cow are a nuisance, sadly in need of snatching.

The debate at Louisville Monday night between Hardin and Bradley was a triumph for the latter and a defeat for the former. Bradley came out of the contest with a still stronger hold upon the people, while Hardin came out not only a worsted debater, but a losing candidate, having driven the Louisville Post, a great Democratic paper, into open revolt and having made it impossible for the Courier-Journal to give him any but half-hearted support.

Mr. A. C. THOMPKINS, the man whom the Princeton Banner (Dem.) gave such a going over last week, is the Democratic nominee for the Legislature from the City of Owensboro. Mr. Thompson wrote an article to one of the Magazines recently in which he contended that the age of consent should be twelve years. With this for a text the Banner proceeded to give the gentleman such a lambasting as is seldom accorded to mortal this side of purgatory, but the Democracy is expected to support him.

The Herald backs squarely out of its statement made last week regarding the appointment of the officers of election by the County Judge and says it was wrong. Of course it was wrong or THE REPUBLICAN would not have said so, but there are some gross doubts as to whether it was a mistake. The Herald should have named the party to whom the County Judge said the statement made by the Herald was a "damned malicious lie," and also that the County Judge tried in vain to find out who of the Herald force was responsible for the publication. If nobody is responsible for the publication of a newspaper it should close up shop.

How many of our citizens ever thought that the choicest building lots in the town have never been touched? People talk of Hartford's being crowded and that building lots are scarce. As beautiful locations almost as nature ever created are lying unimproved right in the town. Reference is made to the beautiful, almost picturesque, river front lying between the bridge and the steam mill. A street opened between these two points would open up a portion of the town which, for building purposes, is unequalled. If you have never considered the question or if you are incredulous after having perused these lines take a stroll up the river from the bridge and convince yourself. Water Street could be made a most interesting drive and the beautiful knolls along the way are sites worthy of mansions. The question is worth the serious consideration of our city fathers and the owners of property ceases to be the friend of the Anzeiger.

"The Anzeiger could avoid the issue by saying that the silver question is decided at Washington and not at Frankfort, and that it is therefore of little consequence what opinions Mr. Hardin entertain on the question, but the Anzeiger in not in the habit of being

"We have assured Mr. Hardin repeatedly, and in the strongest language, that the German Democrats of Louisville are unanimously for honest money and that they will never degrade themselves to vote for a follower and accomplice of Blackburn. He may now see how gets along without the German vote of Kentucky. The Anzeiger is not going to move a finger to get a single German vote for him. If the Democrats of Kentucky do not at the eleventh hour nominate a new candidate, a man who better appreciates the honor of standing on a platform that protects the highest interest of the country, the Anzeiger will, as far as the position of Governor is concerned, be a passive looker-on during the rest of the campaign. We have not yet decided for ourselves, which would be the greater evil, a Republican boss or a hireling of Joe Blackburn in the Capitol at Frankfort. Therefore we avoid both evils by simply ignoring the Governor's election.

"And the Anzeiger is convinced that its readers will fully appreciate the stand it has taken. It is a most painful duty for us to declare war on the man who stands as the head of the Democratic ticket, but, in spite of loyalty to its party, the Anzeiger has never given up its right of giving an opinion of its own, and it makes use of this right to-day by openly declaring that, in its eyes, Hardin no longer exists as the Democratic candidate for Governor."

BANGER PRETENDED.
The Democratic and Republican parties in Kentucky have both in convention assembled pronounced for sound money. If Blackburn secures a majority of the Democratic nominees for the Legislature it is reasonably certain that the next Legislature of that State will be Republican.

The Grade Cards are better, prettier and cheaper than ever. They are the handsomest in the market; just the thing to make a child feel jubilant, and to keep as a souvenir of the school. 35 cents a hundred 300 for $1.00. REPUBLICAN OFFICE.

Now Free Traders Create a Boom. Bill Perkins has returned from a visit among the potters, glass men and iron men says the American Economist. When asked about the recent advance in wages he said:

"I found that some glass, pottery and iron establishments which closed down in 1892 or dropped wages 25 per cent, have started up again, but none with the wages of 1892. In all the potteries wages were cut 12½ per cent. in instance where they had been restored. On account of the demand for structural iron or building pur-

We learn that Rev. I. H. Teel, pastor of the Christian Church, will begin a revival at Alexander the first Sunday night in September. We hope the people will awaken themselves to the cause of religion and let us have a good revival, for that is what the people of this vicinity need. The public is invited to attend. We especially invite all other Christian denominations to be with us. We are looking forward to a grand meeting.

KINDERHOOD.

Aug. 19.—M. G. Wilson, Rosine, spent Friday in this vicinity.

Mrs. Sallie Peyton Crove has returned to Livermore after several weeks visit to Mrs. A. C. Ellis.

Miss Bryant is the guest of her sister, Mrs. G. W. Maple.

Mr. Joseph Foster, wife and children have returned from a Union county after several days visit thereto among relatives.

Prof. Chas. H. Ellis has been employed to teach the fall term of school at Alexander. This is the second term here for Charles and we predict for him a profitable school.

C. B. Hays is on the sick list. He has been confined to his room for several days.

Rev. Hicks, pastor of the C. P. Church, at Beda, began a series of meetings at that place last Saturday. Prospects are flattering for a glorious revival. Bro. Hicks is a rising young minister and we trust that he may be instrumental in bringing many lost souls to Christ.

A RAZOR-BACK SHIP.

Expected to Revolutionize the Ocean Carrying Trade.

Long and Narrow and Built on the Faile Car Idea—To Cross the Atlantic in Three-Fifths of the Time.

Lying at a private wharf in Alexandria, Va., is a very remarkable ship, says Harper's Weekly. She is the first of a new type of vessel intended to revolutionize the ocean carrying trade. If the hopes of Mr. Fryer, the designer and builder of the ship, are realized, passengers will cross the Atlantic in three-fifths of the time now occupied by the "ocean greyhounds" of commerce.

Mr. Fryer has sought to apply the "palace-car" idea to ocean travel. He has built a ship which, while 222 feet long, is only 16 feet beam. Its equilibrium is to be maintained by the heavy keel and by the 80,000 pounds of machinery below the water line. The narrow prow of such a vessel will cut the water like a knife. Resistance will be reduced to a minimum. The heavy compact machinery will furnish ample power for the single screw, and the little razor-back vessel will cleave through the water at a rate of speed which will seem incredible at first. All this, of course, if Mr. Fryer's hopes are realized. The vessel is to have a practical test in the lower Potomac river in a short time. Then the Howard Cassard, as the new ship is called, will be taken to New York.

The ship now approaching completion at Alexandria is built to four-tenths the scale of the full-sized ship. The transatlantic liner of this model will be 555 feet long, and she will be 40 feet beam. Measure 40 feet on a level piece of ground and you will get some idea how narrow the ship will be. And from a greatest breadth of 40 feet she will taper to almost nothing.

Of course, with such a vessel the carrying of freight would be out of the question. There is a main deck, a cable deck and the hold. And the hold is quite filled with machinery. The upper deck is only a promenade, and the cable deck is so narrow that there is not space between the walls of the ship for even so luxurious a cable as some private yachts contain. Such a thing as a general cable would be out of the question. This narrow space has been utilized in part by the construction of single staterooms on each side, a narrow aisle running down the middle of the ship. The remaining space is to be divided up like a sleeping car. Adjustable berths, upper and lower, will be concealed during the day, and each "section" will be supplied with handsomely upholstered seats. In these sections meals will be served from a galley in the hold, on small tables, just as they are served in a buffet car. There will be a toilet room for men at one end of the ship, and a toilet room for women at the other. When night comes the seats in the sections will be transformed into beds, the upper berths will be let down. If they are needed, and each section will be screened from the aisle by portieres. In running to tropical countries the new vessels will carry a certain quantity of fine fruit, and two of the section spaces will be given up to refrigerators.

EXPERT SWIMMERS.

How Arab Boys Shoot the Rapids of the Nile.

Arab boys are expert swimmers, and, like boys in general, are fond of displaying their skill before strangers. If only they are rewarded by some small coin. Mr. Eden, says the Family Magazine, tells how they shoot the rapids of the Nile.

Seating themselves astride of a log of wood about six feet long and buoyant enough to support them waist high out of the water, they ride it with the seat and gesture of a jockey, and with both hands and feet keep it straight with the line of the current.

The fall is shot with an easo and grace that does away with the sense of danger one would expect to feel at seeing a man hurried along amid such a boil and tumult of water, but once at the bottom, they have a hard struggle to induce their horses to turn out of the course.

To do this, they avail themselves of the impetus acquired by the log in its shoot and, throwing themselves full length upon it, they seem, with a sudden stroke from the left leg and arm, to drive it and themselves out of the current.

To fall in this would be dangerous even to Arab swimmers. Immediately below the ugly rocks on which the heavy stream breaks with fearful violence.

Honeymoon Trouble.

Just outside the Grand Central Station the other day I saw an old man looking so sad and sorrowful that I suspected he was in deep trouble and made bold to ask him what had happened.

"You see the hotel over there?" he queried in reply as he pointed.

"Of course."

"Waal, over there in room 82, is my bride—my second wife. She is layin' across the bed mad and sulky and sheddin' tears, and I am out here feelin' that I'd give $10,000 if I'd never married her."

"You are in New York on your bridal tour, eh?"

"That's it. Got spliced up at Cheapside—my second wife. She is layin' across the bed mad and sulky and sheddin' tears, and I am out here feelin' that I'd give $10,000 if I'd never married her."

Yes, she's up there in room 82 kickin' and sobbin' and poundin' on the wall and hievin' hystericks, and I'm down here feelin' that I'm the biggest fool in the State of New York. ### HIS LIP GONE.

THE DIREFUL EFFECTS OF CANCER.

A Desperate Battle with this Terrible Disease, Lasting Thirty Years.

A Cure Found at Last.

There is not a more terrible disease than cancer. On the streets of Atlanta than the man whose picture is here shown. Everybody knows him by sight and it will be remembered that he was a man who began to wear his upper lip, just under his nose, a small piece of cotton-plaster, not larger than a silver half dime, and placed it there he has worn consistantly, though it gradually increased in size, as everybody knew, until it was as large as a silver dollar. This man is M. N. Nelson, who resides at the corner of Anderson and Curran Sts. It was forty years ago, that he first noticed a tiny spot, like a freckle, on the upper lip. At first thought it only a fever blister, but it was not long before his spots became diseased and painful to the touch, and he soon realized that he had fallen a victim to that most dreadful and relentless disease—cancer. It rapidly increased in size and severity, and remember that his son also lost his life by this terrible disease which destroyed his tongue, throat and left eye. Mr. Nicholson became thoroughly alarmed, and realized that his condition was more than serious.

Giving up entirely his business, he went to Chicago and secured a consultation and treatment of a celebrated surgeon. He was afterwards treated in Elmira, New York, where the cancer was twice removed, but he declares that death was preferable to such treatment. The disease seemed to be of a most virulent type, and the doctors afforded absolutely no relief. He was spending all the time, eating only on the partition in his nose, as well as his upper lip and gums.

"Some months ago," he says, "I began to lose S. S., though I admit with little faith that it could care less, but to my surprise, a few bottles afforded some relief. Thus encouraged, I determined to give the medicine a strong trial. It did not fail to bring about the progress I desired, and the disease seemed checked. I continued the medicine, and remarkable as it may seem, I am cured and feel like I have a new life. I can talk more distinctly, for the flesh has begun to grow back around my teeth, where it had been literally eaten away. S. S. is the most wonderful medicine I have ever seen. I am sure it is not generally known, everybody will agree that the cure is indeed a most remarkable one. S. S. has given me a new lease on life, and I shall certainly sing its praises the remainder of my days."—Atlanta Constitution.

For Interest to Ladies.

We offer no apology in placing before you "The Ladies Safe Protector," it is absolutely reliable, easily adjusted, does not become misplaced and insures protection. Can be worn when desired without observation or knowledge of another and prevents disagreeable annoyances under certain conditions. If you use it once you will never be without it. It is faithful, safe and reliable friend whenever used by special circumstances requiring its use. It is an article every woman should keep ready for immediate use. It is simple to use, and insures confidence to the woman using it. It is reliable and scientifically made, insures protection without injury to health, and any good physician would say, we are of the opinion that no article has ever been made which will give as much satisfaction to the women to-day as "The Ladies' Safe Protector." The immense sales of this article is a substantial endorsement of our claim. Do not therefore experiment with any of the numerous unreliable articles, as it is both dangerous to health and expensive to do so. Such experimenting can only result in loss of time, disappointment and dismal failure. Ladies should remember this before ordering other goods and not waste their time and money on inferior articles. The best is always the cheapest. "The Ladies' Safe Protector" is sold under a positive guarantee for use for one year, with full directions and is sent sealed in plain wrapper upon receipt of express money order for $2.00 three for $6.00. Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had proven to be absolutely harmless?

Its equilibrium is to be maintained by the heavy keel and by the 80,000 pounds of machinery below the water line. The narrow prop of such a vessel will cut the water like a knife. Resistance will be reduced to a minimum. The heavy compact machinery will furnish ample power for the single screw, and the little razor back vessel will cleave through the water at a rate of speed which will seem incredible at first. All this, of course, if Mr. Fryer's hopes are realized. The vessel is to have a practical test in the lower Potomac river in a short time. The Howard Cassard, as the new ship is called, will be taken to New York.

The ship now approaching completion at Alexandria is built to four-tenths the scale of the full-sized ship. The transatlantic liner of this model will be 555 feet long, and she will be 40 feet beam. Measure 40 feet on a level piece of ground and you will get some idea how narrow the ship will be. And from a greatest breadth of 40 feet she will taper to almost nothing.

Of course, with such a vessel the carrying of freight would be out of the question. There is a main deck, a cabin deck and the hold. And the hold is quite filled with machinery. The upper deck is only a promenade, and the cabin deck is so narrow that there is not space between the walls of the ship for even so luxurious a cabin as some private yacht contain. Such a thing as a general cabin would be out of the question. This narrow space has been utilized in part by the construction of single staterooms on each side, a narrow aisle running down the middle of the ship. The remaining space is to be divided up like a sleeping car. Adjustable berths, upper and lower, will be concealed during the day, and each "section" will be supplied with handsomely upholstered seats. In these sections meals will be served from a galley in the hold, on small tables, just as they are served in a buffet car. There will be a toilet room for men at one end of the ship, and a toilet room for women at the other. When night comes the seats in the sections will be transformed into beds, the upper berths will be let down if they are needed, and each section will be screened from the aisle by portieres. In running to tropical countries the new vessels will carry a certain quantity of fine fruit, and two of the section spaces will be given up to refrigerators.

How Arab Boys Shoot the Rapids of the Nile.
Arab boys are expert swimmers, and, like boys in general, are fond of displaying their skill before strangers. If only they are rewarded by some small coin. Mr. Eden, says the Family Magazine, tells how they shoot the rapids of the Nile.

Seating themselves astride of a log of wood about six feet long, and buoyant enough to support them waist high out of the water, they ride it with the seat and gesture of a jockey, and with both hands and feet keep it straight with the line of the current.

The fall is shot with an ease and grace that does away with the sense of danger one would expect to feel at seeing a man hurried along amid such a boll and turmoil of water, but once at the bottom, they have a hard struggle to induce their horses to turn out of the course.

To do this, they avail themselves of the impetus acquired by the log in its shoot and, throwing themselves full length upon it, they seem, with a sudden stroke from the left leg and arm, to drive it and themselves out of the current.

To fall in this would be dangerous even to Arab swimmers. Immediately below lie the ugly rocks on which the heavy stream breaks with fearful violence.

Honeymoon Trouble.

Just outside the Grand Central Station the other day I saw an old man looking so sad and sorrowful that I suspected he was in deep trouble and made bold to ask him what had happened.

"You see the hotel over there?" he queried in reply as he pointed.

"Of course."

"Waal, over there in room 82, is my bride—my second wife. She is layin' across the bed mad and sulky and sheddin' tears, and I am out here feelin' that I'd give $10,000 if I'd never married her."

"You are a New York on your bridal tour, eh?"

"That's it. Got spliced up at Che-ming t'other day and cum down on a tower. I was a widow and she was a widow, case of law at first sight, and we didn't spark but six weeks."

"And you have quarreled?"

"We hav. The widow giv me to understand that she was well fixed an' wouldn't want a dollar for a hull y'rn. We had no sooner got down here than she wanted silk stockings, new corsets, a $10 hat, long-handled gloves, lace handkerchiefs, a gold watch and lots of other things. I couldn't git 'em and she called me names. I tried to reason with her and she sailed into me. Yes, she's up there in room 82 kickin' and sobbin' and poundin' on the wall and havin' hystericks, and I'm down here feelin' that I'm the biggest fool in the State of New York. Did you ever marry a widder?"

"Never."

"Then you don't know how they other be handled?"

"No."

"Waal, I don't either. I recon I kin find out hyperimentin' around. I'll go back to the hotel and pat her on the chin and pinch her ears. If that don't do, I'll threaten to leave her here and walk home. If she sasses me back on that I'll hunt around and find a bar's of hard cider and git drunk and stay drunk a week and then run away to Iowa and let her flicker and he hanged to her."

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a child, she cried for Castoria. When she became ill, she clung to Castoria. When she had children, she gave them Castoria.
